PROGRAM SUMMARY

The Louisville Metro Day Reporting Center (DRC) opened in partnership with LMDC to address issues with chronic jail overcrowding. The first of its kind in Kentucky, the DRC aims to save taxpayers money, expand available sentencing options, and enable individuals to serve their sentences while staying connected to their communities.

GEO Reentry Services provides a comprehensive program tailored to meet individual participant's risk and needs. At the foundation of our approach is cognitive behavioral programming designed to address criminogenic needs (key life areas) as identified through the assessment process. The program model at the Louisville Metro DRC includes the Level of Service Inventory-Revised (LSI-R) assessment, Moral Reconciliation Therapy® (MRT), Individual Cognitive Behavioral Interventions (ICBI), employment readiness and assistance, alcohol and drug testing, community connections, and aftercare.

The following reflects the annual (January 1, 2025-December 31, 2025) program data for the Louisville Metro DRC in Kentucky.

Preparing justice-involved individuals to become productive members of the community helps avoid costly incarceration, while enhancing public safety.

* Jail days saved by diverting individuals to the Louisville Metro DRC program

 Incarceration cost per day, per person provided by City of Louisville

 Cost avoidance based on the actual operating costs of the DRC versus cost of incarcerating the same number of individuals for the same number of days between January 1, 2025 - December 31, 2025
