Advocating for Geriatric Healthcare & Activities of Daily Living Services

The GEO Group, Inc. is a nationally recognized leader in providing specialized healthcare services to incarcerated individuals across the United States. With decades of experience, the company is committed to delivering comprehensive, humane, and cost-effective care tailored to the unique medical needs of older individuals.

As the correctional population continues to age due to longer sentences and the natural aging of the general population, GEO has developed a robust model of care that addresses the complex chronic conditions, mobility limitations, cognitive impairments, and palliative needs that are increasingly prevalent in correctional settings. Services include chronic disease management, medication therapy, mental health support, physical rehabilitation, hospice and end-of-life care, and age-appropriate wellness programs—all provided within secure environments.

Our Approach

GEO partners with public safety agencies, community providers, and healthcare contractors to design and implement healthcare delivery systems. These systems comply with legal and regulatory standards, including American Correctional Association (ACA) and National Commission on Correctional Health Care (NCCHC) accreditation requirements, while promoting improved health outcomes and reduced hospitalizations.

The company's multidisciplinary teams of physicians, nurses, behavioral health professionals, and geriatric specialists are trained to work within the constraints of correctional environments, while maintaining the dignity and rights of the aging incarcerated population. Leveraging electronic health records, telehealth capabilities, and evidence-based protocols, GEO delivers continuity of care from intake to release, including discharge planning and coordination with community-based services.

Specialized Care

Activities of Daily Living (ADL) refer to basic tasks that an individual needs to perform independently to maintain their physical and mental well-being. These include tasks like showering, dressing, eating, and transferring from one position to another. In prison settings, there are unique prison-specific ADLs, such as climbing on/off bunks and walking to the dining hall. Health services personnel assess individuals to determine if they have any disabilities that may require support, accommodations, or assistive devices to maintain independence in performing ADLs.

With a proven track record of compassionate care, GEO continues to set the standard for healthcare in corrections by improving quality of life for some of the most vulnerable individuals.
